Weeks More of Skiing Ahead at Sunday River

The true devotion of a skier is measured by the time of year he racks up his skis, retires his boots to the attic, and turns to more mundane pursuits. Those wonderful days of hot sun, crisp blue sky and corn snow cannot be passed up by those who truly love the sport.

Although there is still powder snow to be found at Sunday River Skiway, spring skiing addicts are already rubbing their hands in anticipation of the days of shirt sleeve skiing ahead. Over six feet of snow now covers parts of Barker Mountain, and up to four and one-half feet can be found on the skied slopes, giving promise of skiing for another three weeks. Those who climbed to the snow fields at the summit of the mountain last Sunday came down rhapsodizing about the snow cover which still remains on the upper reaches, but skiers who prefer to do their climbing via T-bar will find ample cover on the lower slopes.

In anticipation of the days ahead, Sunday River Skiway has done a thorough repair job on what was at one time a rather soggy road, trucking in load after load of gravel to keep the access drive open and dry.

On the basis of present snow cover, directors of the Skiway anticipate that their present brisk business will continue well into April. The excellent skiing to be found has of course been chiefly responsible for Sunday River's highly successful first season, but the friendliness and informality of the area have also played an important part.

"WAKE UP, DARLING." COULD SENIOR PLAY COMING APRIL 29

The Gould Academy senior play, a two-act, five scene comedy by Alex Gottlieb entitled "Wake Up, Darling," is now in rehearsal with a cast selected by the director, David Thompson, after extensive try-outs. It will be presented in the William Bingham Gym at eight p. m., April 29.

The fast-moving farce played on Broadway some years ago with a cast headed by Barbara Britton, Barry Nelson, and Russel Nype, appearing in their roles will be Betsy Webster, Dedham, Mass., John Todd, Ocean Grove, N. J., and George Elliot, Thomaston. Appearing in supporting parts are Janet Hill, Attleboro, Mass., Lorraine Cole, Bryant Pond; Sue Saunders, Bethel; Michael Hathaway, Bryant Pond; Sally Hancock, Casco; Barbara Mundt, Bethel; Ben White, Weld; and Steve Watson, Kezar Falls.

MOONBEAM THEME FOR 1960 CHARITY BALL

Moonbeams and stars, kaleidoscopic colors and flowers, will highlight the 1960 Charity Ball, to be held in the Rumford Armory on Saturday night, April 30, from 8 to 12.

The "Once Upon a Moon-glow" theme was chosen by Bethel Decorations Chairman Mrs. Lincoln Fiske and her committee with the idea of creating a spring-night, more formal atmosphere.

A huge crystal ball, representing the moon, suspended from the star-studded, artificially contrived ceiling, will reflect myriad dancing moonbeams from its prisms.

There will be a wishing well, a "surprise spectacular," and beautiful corsages. Lloyd Raffell's orchestra will again supply romantic, danceable sound effects from the bandstand. Usherettes will be attractively dressed in costumes consistent with the theme.

Those serving on the Decorations Committee with Mrs. Fiske are, from Bethel: Mrs. Edward Robertson, Mrs. Leonard Brown, Mrs. Dexter Slowell, Mrs. James Owen, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Manson, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Bennock, and Mr. and Mrs. William Cousins. CAPACITY ATTENDANCE GREETED VAUDEVILLE AT LOCKE MILLS

Vaudeville U. S. A., the show with local talent sponsored by the P. T. C. of Greenwood, held at the Locke Mills Town Hall last Friday evening proved to be a great success.

A "Questionable Character," Ellsworth Hathaway, constantly interrupted Lester Bickford as M. C. with such actions as displaying a live rooster he had recently taken from Everett Cross' henhouse. The rooster was rescued by Mr. Cross and shotgun. Leatrice Chase, a "Cute Young Thing," decorated the stage prettily when she paraded by with placards inscribed with the titles of each act.

The program commenced with an act which represented New England, done by the Greenwood City school children who were, Lucy Curtis, Kathy Curtis, Albert Curtis, Kenneth Curtis, Ann Holt, David Holt, Percy Monk, Sylvia Polvinen, Shirley Waisanen, Terry Waisanen, Dixie Waisanen, Raymond Hakala, and Steve Hakala.

The Four Misses from the Miss America Contest, Bea Felt, Mary Keoskie, Betty Mills and Ginny Hutchins from Bethel "Danced with Mr. Francis" was portrayed by John Chase of Locke Mills.

The Locke Mills school children then burst forth with a pantomime skit about a draftee from the Ozarks "Going Somewhere." The actors in this were Linda Hazelton, Stuart Twitchell, Jimmy Roberts, Lois Sumner, Leaton Sumner, Alden Bartlett, Annie Cross, Carleen Jordan, Claire Hinkley, Eileen Dunham, Warren Smith, Jeff Johnson, Carl Roberts, Raymond Seames, Franz Martin.

Ole Virginny was represented by Joan Hawkins of Greenwood who told and showed the audience how Aunt Effie went "Hoss" Back Riding.

The Greenwood City Players, Morgan and Hakala, portrayed a couple of fellows from Vermont much to the enjoyment of the audience.

Our 49th State, Alaska, sent down some outcasts who were a group of 4-H'ers from Greenwood namely Robert Holt, William Harrington, John Curtis, Andrew Hawkins, and Colista Morgan.

The Locke Mills Youth Group did a typical "Classroom" scene. Merry Ring, the teacher, was heckled by Ken Ring, Allan Ring, Owen Melville, Carolyn Melville, Charles Newell, Dwight Mills and Gendon Kimball.

The Melodettes from Jackson-Silver Unit No. 68 who are Beverly Melville, Sylvia Dunham, Sandra Dunham, Iola Marshall, Lois Day, Ann Swan, and Margie Swan dressed gaily as Southern Belles harmonized and hypnotized Norwood Ford much to Mrs. Ford's dismay.

Leah Witter, Bea Felt, Betty Mills, of Bethel, Florence Cole, Shirley Morse, Kaye Bolen and Cathy Bickford of Locke Mills as the "Dancing Lassies" from Las Vegas performed the Can Can.

Irving, Charlotte and Burton Cole with Lillian Mills brought forth the western influence entertaining with harmonica and guitar playing plus some hill billy songs.

The "Four Pineapples" who gave instructions in the art of the Hula. The participants in this hilarious act were Joe Cole, Curt Martin, John Chase and David Schultz.

The Balladeers, Phil Bolen, Bud Jenkins, Stan Andrews and Gil Whitman rendered tunes representing old Broadway.

Music for the dancing following the program by J. Howe and Group kept the folks stepping lively till midnight.

Ticket chairman announced gross take as $148.48.

Several gloves, mittens, kerchiefs and boots which were left at the hall may be picked up at Lester Bickford's in Locke Mills.

Weeks More of Skiing Ahead at Sunday River

The true devotion of a skier is measured by the time of year he racks up his skis, retires his boots to the attic, and turns to more mundane pursuits. Those wonderful days of hot sun, crisp blue sky and corn snow cannot be passed up by those who truly love the sport.

Although there is still powder snow to be found at Sunday River Skiway, spring skiing addicts are already rubbing their hands in anticipation of the days of shirt sleeve skiing ahead. Over six feet of snow now covers parts of Barker Mountain, and up to four and one-half feet can be found on the steeper slopes, giving promise of skiing for another three weeks. Those who climbed to the snow fields at the summit of the mountain last Sunday came down rhapsodizing about the snow cover which still remains on the upper reaches, but skiers who prefer to do their climbing via T-bar will find ample cover on the lower slopes.

In anticipation of the days ahead, Sunday River Skiway has done a thorough repair job on what was at one time a rather soggy road, trucking in load after load of gravel to keep the access drive open and dry.

On the basis of present snow cover, directors of the Skiway anticipate that their present brisk business will continue well into April. The excellent skiing to be found has of course been chiefly responsible for Sunday River's highly successful first season, but the friendliness and informality of the area have also played an important part.

1859-1959: "OIL'S FIRST CENTURY, BORN IN FREEDOM, WORKING FOR PROGRESS"

Thursday, March 24

Read Luke 23:39-43

Jesus said unto him, Verily I say unto thee, To day shalt thou be with me in paradise. (Luke 23:43)

The thief on the cross said that he was receiving due reward for his life of sin. Nevertheless he asked Jesus' forgiveness. Christ granted salvation to him in those closing moments of life.

By Jesus' own actions we find assurance that whosoever believes in Christ will not perish, but have eternal life.

This assurance is the hope of the world today. By his own righteousness, no man can hope for eternal life. We all live in a sinful world, and by nature we are all sinners. It is only through our belief in Jesus Christ and through His forgiveness of our sins that we can be assured of everlasting life. We have the same choice to make—to believe or not to believe—as had the two thieves crucified with Jesus. The price has been paid for our sins, but each of us must believe and put our trust in Jesus if we are to be saved.

PRAYER: Heavenly Father, help us to realize that through our own thoughts and actions our future is determined. We pray for faith and wisdom such as the humble thief had when on the cross he said, "Lord, remember me when thou comest into thy kingdom." In Jesus' name. Amen.

Thought For The Day
Our repentance and God's forgiveness bring us into fellowship with Him.

—Luther J. Carothers (Tenn.)

Manning Potts, who adds "and its world-wide acclaim has been mainly by its simplicity... a reading of Bible text... a daily meditation... a simple prayer and a thought for the day."

It now appears in 37 separate editions, in 31 different languages and in Braille for the blind. Besides the printing plants at Nashville, Tenn., and Louisville, Ky., 29 editions of "The Upper Room" are printed in 21 different cities around the world. In addition to more than 3,375,000 copies of the guide per issue, the devotional meditations appear in 1,500 weekly and daily newspapers.

You'll find The Upper Room on Page 4 of today's issue.

Youngsters live in a world that is part real and part dream. The State Police point out that sometimes, lost in this dream world, they forget to be careful. Obviously, this calls for greater caution on the part of drivers. Let's remember that youngsters sometimes don't think; that cars can't think; and that we must think.

The Maine Highway Safety Committee reminds motorists that the law requires car operators to dim headlights at least 500 feet in advance of meeting a car traveling in the opposite direction and also when following another car closer than 100 feet.

Too often the innocent suffer when temper's at the wheel! When another driver burns you up—cool off! Losing your head can cost you control of your car, make an innocent party a victim of your spite. Last year traffic accidents brought death to 37,000 people, painful injuries to hundreds of thousands more. Too many were innocent victims of good drivers who momentarily let emotion blindfold judgment. When all your mind's on driving, you'll be a safer driver.

COUNTRY FLAVOR

Several things are acutely needed to restore equilibrium to the aerial order, and among the more important is a renaissance of scarecrows. A man can ride for miles, come June, and never see one of the home-made statues which Webster defines as an object to resemble a human figure, set up to frighten crows away from crops.

It is oddly gratifying to see a crow perched on a scarecrow, sitting as a sentinel while his cohorts walk along lines of young corn, pulling up the tender stalks and eating the kernels. Such a scene teaches a man that he has problems on earth as well as in outer space.

On a stormy day, it is good to natter along in the farm shop, fashioning a first-class scarecrow. The body, arms and legs are routine matters; the creative phase is the fashioning of a silhouetted face that will resemble a neighbor's features.

Psychologists claim that all have undiscovered creative talents. If one will work with pencil on a large sheet of paper, he can eventually create an outline, emphasizing jaw, nose and forehead that will resemble a friend's contours.

We hope that countrymen will again use scarecrows. The tattered clothes and battered hats are expected, but we especially need a renaissance of creative talent as applied to facial contours.

It is a psychological uplift as one goes to town behind a steely Morgan reader to see a scarecrow resembling some prominent citizen, with a big, wise even perched on an arm.

MAN'S RECIPE

SUNNY ACRES FROZEN PRUNE DESSERT

Just because I'm a minister's son, and 58 years old, does not give me the right to preach, but on the other hand, it is no reason why I should not. My gardening rival, Horace A. (for Azubah) Winklerwhiffer says that I preach a little too much, but he would rather have a bit too much than none at all. Wonder if others feel that way.

Today's sermonette is this. If you want life to be rich and more meaningful, do something that is cumulative in value. Read a few minutes in a good book each day; listen a few minutes to good music. It is the cumulative effect that adds depth to a person's background.

Today's recipe is not low in calories, but once in a while it is good to have a dessert like this. Use two egg yolks, one cup powdered sugar, one half teaspoon vanilla, one fourth teaspoon almond extract, two tablespoons orange juice, one fourth teaspoon salt, one eighth teaspoon allspice, one cup mashed, sliced cooked prunes, two egg whites beaten stiff, one cup cream whipped.

Beat yolks until creamy and foamy.

Beat in sugar, flavorings, orange juice, salt and allspice. Mix in prunes, egg whites and whipped cream.

Freeze at lowest temperature and stir the mixture two or three times while it is freezing.

We all know that crows are smarter than humans, but we can enjoy them—to a degree, if we provide first-class scarecrows.

miles into space.

Entirely apart from any military significance, we are gaining new knowledge about cosmic rays and a thousand other "mystical" fields of science, which will enrich our lives and those of our descendants.

Already a new branch of science has developed, and a new story read: "Upper Atmosphere Experts" (from Harvard Session Today).

"Upper Atmosphere Experts," there is a phrase to thrill the human mind!

But it is of another type of "Upper Atmosphere Expert" that I would remind you today.

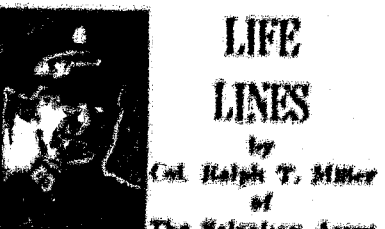

For, according to the Scriptures, you and I can, and should become "Upper Atmosphere Experts." None of us needs to be satisfied with dwelling in the lowlands, but we may climb to the higher altitudes of faith and spiritual experience and service.

We read so often in the Scriptures, that men of faith, when they would see clearly, sought communion with God, "on a mountain top."

We have great need today for men and women like that, who have become experts, who are able to say:

"I sit me up and let me stand on faith on heaven's table land; a higher plane than I have found, I plant my feet on higher ground."

Let us strive to be "Upper Atmosphere Experts."

EXPERTS IN THE UPPER ATMOSPHERE

There are momentous days in which the lives of nations have been discovered more about the world in which we live, during the last hundred years, than mankind learned during all the previous ages of history.

Now, we are shedding the shackles that bound us to the earth, and are peering the mysteries of the upper atmosphere, and beyond. Today it is earth satellites circling the earth outside the pull of gravity, tomorrow, who knows? The moon's secret is being unlocked. There seems to be no limit to what man may achieve. Even as I write, the space bulletin says that a rocket rocket went four thousand miles into space.
